The 2000 SCCA SEDiv Solo2 Championship Series Rookie Program

The intent of the SEDiv Solo2 Rookie Program is to promote and foster new participation for first-year divisional competitors. Participation is only open to competitors who have never participated in a previous year Divisional Solo2 event. Rookie Program competitors will be grouped and scored using this year's PAX multiplication factors to normalize the results in the following categories:

A rookie competitor's lowest timed run from Saturday & Sunday of each event will be combined and multiplied by the appropriate class PAX number to determine the final finishing positions for each rookie competition classing category listed above. Event trophies and championship series points will be awarded for each rookie competition category the same as in regular SEDiv Solo2 Championship Series class competition. Year-End Rookie Championships will be awarded to the rookie with the largest accumulation of series points for each competition classing category. As in normal SEDiv competition, points can be accumulated from all SEDiv Solo2 events held this year. However, to qualify for a Year-End Rookie Championship award a rookie must compete in a minimum of (2) two SEDiv Solo2 Series events in the same competition category. The rookie can change cars or classes and still be eligible for the Year-End Championship as long as they compete in the same competition classing category. Rookies are also eligible to simultaneously win their respective regular competition class for each event and Year-End championship points series as well.
